Playstead Bleachers Unsafe

The bleachers at the Andover Playstead are in a dangerous condition and must be removed, according to school authorities. Assistant Superintendent of Schools Vaughn Clapp informed the school committee Tuesday night of conditions of the stands and the committee authorized the administration to work with the town to rectify the matter.

Clapp told the board that cursory observation would reveal that the boards and planks of the stands are in bad shape.

He said that carpenters and engineers had been asked to view the stands and concurred in the observation that the bleachers should be removed, and before the town's Fourth of July observance scheduled for the playstead on Tuesday, July 4.

Jack Berberian, supervisor of general services, was to look into the costs of removal of the stands. He said he would confer with Public Works Director Robert McQuade to see what steps should be taken.

The school committee authorized the administration to proceed with the demolition. If it is to go out to bid on the project, the administration can award a contract if the bid price is under $1,000.

School property, such as the playstead, is now under the control of the school department.

School committee members Tuesday night felt that positive steps should be taken, in view of the reports by the administrators and engineers.

As for replacement, the committee deferred any action in this regard.

It is felt that if stands are required, then temporary bleachers, such as those used in other communities and in Andover on occasion would fit the bill.

The stands involved are used for school physical education and athletic activities at the junior high level.

Most all interscholastic competition is held at the high school field with its new stands.

FinCom To Visit Sites

The Finance Committee has scheduled meetings with Public Works Director Robert McQuade to view a current project and to examine the prospective landfill sites.

The first session was scheduled for last night when McQuade and FinCom members were to visit the Water Treatment plant on the shores of Haggitts Pond. Review of the progress to date was the reason for the visit, according to FinCom Chairman Frank Byrne.

The meeting scheduled for June 29 will be concerned entirely with the landfill problem.

Byrne and his watchdog committee are to meet with McQuade about 6:30 and go to the Lowell Junction and Woburn street sites which are under consideration for a new landfill operation.

Following the visit to the two sites, the board will reconvene at Memorial Hall Library and review the information available.

By that time the Board of Health will have had their hearing relative to the two sites. That hearing is scheduled for tonight in Memorial Hall library.

Also, it is expected that Town Manager J. Maynard Austin, also invited to the session, will have additional information relative to land appraisals on the two locations.

Chairman Byrne said that his committee is not taking any stand on the landfill question at the moment.

He said the meetings are an effort to explore all avenues open to the town.

Alternatives, he feels, must be examined in view of proposed regionalization studies on solid waste now under consideration or pending.

TREE WRECKED. Tree Dept. Supt. Philip Busby holds a portion of a young tree which was wrecked by vandals last Wednesday night in Memorial Park. The tree had been planted this spring by the Andover Garden club and was from the Arnold Arboretum.

Requiem For A Tree

Trees are most magnificent things, as Joyce Kilmer so eloquently attested.

They spring forth from seedlings and with but minor assists from anything but nature, become vital parts of life.

Cared for primarily and almost solely by nature, trees are regulatory to human life, governing the flow of oxygen, and exercising environmental controls.

In summer their leaves wince skyward at the sun's torrid rays, yet providing protective shade to those below.

Through winter's fiercest blasts their barren branches against the gray skies succor the buds which will spring forth with new life when spring approaches.

In autumn they blaze forth with myriad colors difficult to duplicate by human brush with such ease.

Trees are things of beauty and value.

They somehow withstand murderous assaults, such as winter ice storms and hurricanes, combat infection, infestation by insects and pollutants in the air on occasion.

Trees are not miraculous, however, and succumb to senseless destruction wrought by stupid, youthful hands.

Such was the case last Wednesday night.

A tree, planted in Memorial Park only a few weeks ago as a gift to the town by the Andover Garden club, was deliberately snapped off in its budding prime.

The tree was a rare species and brought to Andover from the world famed Arnold Arboretum as part of the centennial observance of the Harvard institution.

It was found Thursday in pieces, its supporting cables also loosened.

Potential beauty and value rendered lifeless by the senseless stupidity of malicious youth.

New Directions For Chamber

New directions for the Andover Chamber of Commerce were proposed by Robin N. Neill, new president of the organization at the 10th annual dinner meeting of the group, held this past week at the Sheraton Rolling Green Motor Inn.

Neill succeeded Robert M. Henderson as president. During the dinner program, the addition of another member of the board of directors was approved, outgoing officers were thanked and committee chairmen presented plaques in appreciation of their efforts.

Neill proposed that the chamber organize a group of task forces to pursue specific assignments and to be disbanded when specific problems or projects are completed.

One task force will be assigned to explore the reasons why land in downtown Andover remains undeveloped.

The new president proposed that the new task force work with town officials and interested parties to consummate development of these downtown areas to the best advantage of the town.

The Downtown Task force will continue to work with local officials on traffic and fire zoning along with other downtown planning problems, along with its promotional activity.

The chamber will strengthen its efforts in attracting both people and industry to Andover, Neill said and continue to explore methods of improving the economic and social welfare of the community.

Neill said he would like to see the chamber take firm stands on vital issues which concern the welfare and development of the community and plans to conduct seminars for members during the year.

Henderson in reviewing the year, told of work-study program in which the Chamber worked with Andover High school in developing useful programs for both students and chamber members alike.

He reviewed the work of the Downtown Planning committee which established an active relationship with town officials and assisted in parking and traffic surveys.

The promotional work of the Retail Task Force, and its Christmas lighting program were also commented upon by the outgoing president.

In expressing his appreciation to the chamber officers for their assistance during the year, Henderson also noted the progress made by the community and industrial development committee which responded to a number of inquiries and the housing committee which developed a revolving loan plan to assist deserving citizens in obtaining housing.

A Passing Herald's Memories

By John H. Fenton

The Boston Herald, with due respect to its somewhat less prestigious afternoon late cousin, the Traveler, was the establishment newspaper of Boston, especially after the demise of the Evening Transcript, and during the regime of Robert E. Choate as publisher.

Robert Taylor, in last Sunday's Globe, wrote an excellent background piece on the Herald's 125 years, as only a former Herald man could. And Jerry Murphy, in Monday's Globe, had a nostalgic column about some of the hard-nosed Herald men he knew, the general assignment reporters mostly, who are becoming as scarce as doctors who make house calls.

Taking advantage of an invitation to reminisce for The TOWNSMAN, and hoping to avoid reading like relic of the good old days, if any, I recall the afternoon I walked timidly into the office of Robert Lincoln O'Brien, editor of The Herald, with a letter of introduction from Henry F. Long, Tax Commissioner of Massachusetts.

After a short while Mr. O'Brien said, "young man, most young fellows who come in here looking for a job wear belts, and a couple of inches of shirt show beneath their vests, and it looks like the devil; I notice it doesn't with you."

"No, sir," I replied, putting a thumb in my vest's arm hole, "I wear suspenders."

The following Monday, I went to work for The Herald at $25 a week. Save for a brief hiatus of four months at the American, in 1929, I spent the next 20 years on The Herald staff, before being offered The Times bureau in 1947.

Thomas Carens, the State House reporter; Philip Hale, the drama critic, and F. Lauriston Bullard, a pompous Pulitzer prize winning editorial writer, were men of stature on that staff. Bill Mullins, then a golf writer, and Burt Whitman, a scholarly baseball writer, were giants in the sports department, as was Stanley Woodward, later a Herald-Tribune sports writer in New York.

John Griffin, who later went to The Post where he became editor, was the star reporter. Charlie Drury, who knew every police chief and sheriff from Boston to the Canadian border, was day city editor.

Once during my first year, I had a bout with the flu. When my mother called to tell Charlie I wouldn't be in, I told her to ask Charlie if he thought they could do without me.

Charlie replied, "You tell John we got out a paper the day before he came and we'll get one out the day after he leaves."

And they did. One of my first out of town assignments was to go to Northampton, by train, to interview Calvin Coolidge, who was coming home after a national tour at the end of his term as President.

Naively, I called up the Post to see if John Griffin might be going to make the trip, too; thinking we might go up on the train together. Griffin was on his day off, but the Post quickly sent a man up to catch Mr. Coolidge as soon as he arrived in Springfield.

The former President had little to say, as usual. But with some of the luck that always followed me, I was able to talk to him alone the next day -- through the front screen door. He had always been partial to The Herald. But the interview did not become a Coolidge state paper.

Later, besides a stint of reading radio news bulletins from a tiny booth off the city room twice nightly, I was given an aviation column to write weekly, for a stipend of $5 extra.

When Herbert Hoover was inaugurated President in 1929, I was sent to New York to board a plane, equipped with a dark room, which was carrying news syndicate pictures from Washington, under a contract with The Herald. New York was to be a refueling stop. Wire photos were in their infancy.

But rain and fog forced the plane to remain on the ground after it reached the Newark airport. In what was considered rare enterprise in those days, Robert Choate arranged with the New Haven Railroad for a special, two-car train. After a hectic taxi ride from Newark to Grand Central Station and some telephone calls, I boarded the train, which made the Boston run in four hours and 33 minutes. And The Herald had fresh pictures in the second edition.

Salad day restlessness prompted me to apply for copy desk work in 1930, and I wound up in the sports department, dodging win-and-lose cliches for the next 12 years.

But a lucky interview with Babe Ruth at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, gave me a break from the drudgery of the desk, in 1932. The home run king had twisted a leg on the old left field banking at Fenway Park, an area known as Duffy's Cliff. After that, I covered some baseball, including the first western trip with the Red Sox in 1933, the year they were bought by Tom Yawkey.

World War II brought changes, among which was a chance to return to the news room. Bill Mullins, by then, had become the best known political writer in New England. Young John O'Connor was catching on as a protege, and Arthur Stratton's by-line was appearing daily over major stories.

With another of my strokes of luck, I happened to be shuttling between the rewrite battery and the city desk when The New York Times opened a New England bureau in the Herald building, in late 1945. Bill Blair, the correspondent, picked me as his stringer or part time sub, on his days off and out of town trips. And, in 1947, I made the complete shift, when Bill went on to the middle west and eventually to the Washington bureau.

But that is another story. It all came back to mind last Monday.

Town Takes Tax Loan

The town has taken tax anticipation notes in the amount of $1,500,000 from the following banks:

Merrimack Valley National Bank, $500,000 at 2.40 percent; State Street Bank and Trust Co., Boston, $500,000 at 2.40 percent; First National Bank of Boston $250,000 at 2.40 percent and $250,000 at 2.42 percent.

John Tyler was the first American president to marry during his term of office.

Landfill Hearing Tonight

The Board of Health will conduct a public hearing tonight at 7:30 p.m. in Memorial Hall library to discuss the health aspects of the new dump site.

In accordance with the General Laws the local health agency must conduct a hearing on the proposed new location of the sanitary landfill operation.

The two sites under consideration involve industrial land in Lowell Junction and the Cyr-Cronin gravel pit off Woburn street. The two sites have been recommended by the consultant firm of Metcalf and Eddy.

Robert A. Walsh, chairman of the board of health has announced that officials from the state department of health and town officials will be present at the June 22 hearing.

According to law, it is the duty of the local board of health to approve and designate an area to be used for the disposal of refuse in a community.

The selectmen will make their recommendation concerning a new site following receipt of reports of the health agencies.

The town will make the final decision at the October town meeting, choosing either the site recommended by the selectmen or an alternate to be included in the meeting warrant.

Babe Ruth Club In Split

By Rick Harrison

The Andover Babe Ruth baseball team split four games during the past week.

The locals started with victories over Tower Hill (3-2) and South Lawrence East (5-3), increasing its win streak to three straight.

But then followed successive defeats to North Lawrence (4-2) and North Andover (8-2), setting Andover's seasonal record at 3-3.

The team had two other games scheduled after TOWNSMAN presstime this week, hosting Prospect Hill last Tuesday and defending champ Methuen yesterday.

The next game for the local club will be Monday night at 6 p.m., when it plays host to South Lawrence West at the Playstead Field.

Andover received some special notice last weekend, also, when three of its players were selected to the 150-man Greater-Lawrence Babe Ruth All-Star squad.

Steve Fabiani, Keith Verrette and Dave Mosher will be the local representatives on the 'Star' team, which begins play in the nationwide single-elimination Babe Ruth tourney on July 7.

Andover 3, Tower Hill 2 -- Steve Fabiani surrendered just two scratch infield hits while raising his 1972 pitching record to 2-0.

The righthanded hurler struck out eight and walked six, lowering his E.R.A. to 0.63. Both Tower Hill runs were unearned.

Andover, which stranded nine men on base during the game, missed golden scoring opportunities in each of the first four innings. Twice the locals had runners at second and third with one out, but failed to capitalize on the situation.

Tower Hill grabbed a 2-0 lead in the bottom of the third. With one out, Fabiani walked Al DiGrazia and Rick Cecil. Dick McNeal followed with a bunt single to load the bases.

The Andover pitcher bore down to whiff Kevin Gearin for the second out, but then an infield throwing error on Don Saab's grounder allowed two runs to score.

Andover tied it 2-2 with a pair of runs in the fifth. Steve Galvin led with a walk and Dave Mosher was safe on an error.

Keith Verrette slammed a 300-foot double to leftfield that scored Galvin, but Mosher was cut down at the plate trying to score from first base.

When Tower Hill second baseman Ed Saab misplayed Jeff Winters' grounder, Verrette raced home with the tying tally.

Andover picked up the winning run in the seventh. Dave Mosher started a two-out rally with an infield single. He stole second, and scored when Keith Verrette's outfield fly was misplayed.

Tower Hill threatened in the bottom of the stanza. Dan Sanchez led with a walk and took second on a wild pitch. However, Fabiani reared back and fanned the next three batters to end the game.

Andover finished with seven hits - one each by Steve Galvin, Thom Lawler, Glenn Verrette, Paul McIntyre, Fabiani, Mosher and Keith Verrette.

Defensively it was centerfielder Glenn Verrette and Dave Mosher turning in some headsup plays.

Andover 5, So. Lawrence East 3 - Andover erupted for four runs in the first frame, and then rode the three-hit pitching of Dave Mosher to victory.

Mosher fanned six and walked four to square his seasonal record at 1-1.

Andover's big opening inning started with a walk to Steve Galvin, and back-to-back singles by Steve Fabiani and Mosher to load the bases.

Galvin was forced at home on Keith Verrette's infield grounder, but Fabiani scored when Paul McIntyre's infield grounder was misplayed.

Glenn Verrette followed with a solid two-run single to leftfield, making it 3-0. Jeff Winters rescued the fourth run with a fly ball to centerfield.

Mosher faced the minimum number of nine men over the first three innings, but ran into trouble in the fourth.

South Lawrence East got two runners aboard on a single and walk, and Chuck Prescott brought them both home with a two-out single to slice the Andover lead to 4-2.

The locals picked up an insurance run in the fifth on singles by Fabiani, Mosher and Glenn Verrette.

SLE closed the scoring in the bottom of the seventh without benefit of a hit. Two walks and an infield error loaded the bases with one out. Mosher then hit Jim Loffredo with a pitch to force in a run.

With the bases still jammed, Bill Rourke skied to Glenn Lefebvre in rightfield and Tom Sheehan bounced out to the mound to end it.

Andover pounded out seven safeties in this game. Glenn Verrette, Dave Mosher and Steve Fabiani had two hits apiece, while Joe Pasquale chipped in with one single.

No. Lawrence 4, Andover 2 - Andover's three-game win streak was stopped, as North Lawrence pitcher Dave Robinson tossed a three-hitter and pitched out of jams in every inning but the seventh.

Andover had several chances to break the game open, but left 11 men stranded.

The visitors jumped on Andover starter Glenn Verrette for one run in the first. Singles by Steve Sabbagh, Robinson and Ray Couture did the damage.

North Lawrence made it 2-0 in the second on a hit batsman, two infield singles and a throwing error.

Glenn Verrette escaped further trouble by picking two men off base, and tagging out another runner between third base and home plate.

Andover tied it 2-2 in the third inning without getting a hit. Walks to Thom Lawler and Steve Fabiani, along with two infield errors, brought home the runs.

North Lawrence chipped away for the winning run in the fifth. Robinson led with a long double to centerfield, and scored on Couture's second RBI single of the night.

Andover had a big opportunity in the sixth, loading the bases with one out after walks to Glenn Lefebvre, Lawler and Fabiani.

Dave Mosher tried to squeeze home one run, but his bunt attempt was popped to the catcher. Keith Verrette then bounced out to the pitcher to end the inning.

North Lawrence picked up an insurance marker in the seventh on an infield error, a walk, a passed ball and a wild pitch.

The losers had two runners aboard in the first, fourth and fifth frames - but failed to score each time.

Paul "Flash" McIntyre hammered a 300-foot single for one Andover hit, while Glenn Ver-

Astros Win Title In National Lg.

The season went right down to the wire as the Astros clinched the National Minor league championship on the last day with 7-6 win over the Braves.

The hard driving Phillies, who had become the most improved team in the league, mounted a serious challenge for the title but could not overcome an early season deficit nor secure the cooperation of the Astros who persisted in their winning ways.

Astros 7, Redlegs 1 - A superb Astros' defense coupled with excellent pitching by Ted Parish who gave up only three walks earned the victory. The Astros scored five runs on six hits in a big fourth inning rally. The heavy hitters were Tony Frank, Tom Lloyd and Ed Darby.

Brian Goodson hurled a fine game while Bill Stahley and Tom Busta banged out two hits each for the losers.

Giants 7, Cardinals 6 - A great effort by the whole Giants team who, following a dreary start, have played excellent ball, succeeded in nipping a snappy, scrappy, Cardinal contingent in a close game.

Star relief hurler Andy Billings came in with the bases loaded and one out and retired the Cardinals to preserve a one run lead. Mike Lynch pitched effectively, belted out two hits and scored two runs. The big hit was Matt Billings grand slam homer, his seventh round tripper of the season.

Sean Parker gave up only three runs during his pitching stint while Alan White's long single and Jim Thompson's triple were the big hits. The Wilson brothers, Eric and Doug set the defensive pace.

Phillies 21, Redlegs 6 - A hard hitting, high scoring Phillies team celebrated a successful season with a hit and run festival at the expense of the Redlegs. Ed Adamsky and Jay DiOrto each had three hits, while Jay also pitched four effective innings. Ray Umanzio sparked on defense for the losers.

Astros 7, Braves 6 - In the final game of the season with the pennant hanging in the balance, ace hurler Tony Frank scattered four singles and four walks, while striking out four to win the game for his mates. The big hitters for the champions were Ed and Eric Darby, Tom Lloyd and Tony Frank.

For the losing Braves, Kevin Seifert pitched three scoreless innings and banded out three hits in three times at the plate. Mark Annick knocked a solid single to score two runs and Andy Weil doubled accounting for two more tallies. Andy Powell, Robby Serbagi and David Stein also delivered timely hits for the Braves.

Giants 13, Dodgers 1 - The Giants clobbered the helpless Dodgers behind the masterful pitching of Andy Billings.

Offensive stars were Matt Billings, Ted Bartholdi and Bob Milne.

For the Dodgers, Alan Berkwith's hitting was a note of encouragement.

Phillies 15, Pirates 7 - Good clutch pitching by Doug Royal and Gary Morrisette enabled the Phillies to down the Pirates in this high scoring contest.

For the winners, the big bats were wielded by Ed Adamsky and Tim Doran each collecting home runs, Scott Kelsey, who doubled and Jay DiOrto with three solid hits.

Chris Weissman made a diving clutch grab in the outfield and rifled a throw to the plate to cut off a run.

Joe Lahood homered and Doug Kirkland punched out three hits to set the offensive pace for the Pirates.

At a recent cookout the Pirates celebrated the end of a successful season with food and song. The highlight of the evening came with the assembled players and coaches selected three of their mates for special praise because of their outstanding contributions during the season. Douglas Kirkland was selected Most Valuable Player, Keith Williams, highest batting average, and Andy Cobin, most improved player.

The final standings: Astros 10-4, Phillies 9-5, Braves 7-7,

Pirates 7-7, Redlegs 7-7, Cardinals 6-8, Dodgers 5-9, Giants 5-9.

No. Andover 8, Andover 2 - North Andover maintained its "jinx" over the local club, beating it for the seventh straight time over the past three years.

The 8-2 score is deceiving, however, as North Andover clung to a slim 1-0 lead through four innings. The victors exploded for seven runs in the fifth stanza to blow the game wide open.

Steve Fabiani suffered his first loss in three decisions on the mound, surrendering eight hits while walking six and fanning six.

Andover slipped back into its non-hitting ways, managing only three singles against North Andover's Wayne Alexander.

North Andover grabbed a 1-0 lead in the third on a single by Frank Androski, a walk to John Doherty and an RBI single by Brian Smith.

The winners sent 11 men to the plate in the seven-run fifth, combining four singles, four walks and one error into the big inning.

Andover broke the shutout without benefit of a hit in the seventh. Two-out walks to Paul McIntyre, John Lyons, Dave Rindone, Glenn Verrette and Joe Pasquale did the work.

The locals left eight men stranded on base in this game, and loaded the bases in both the second and seventh stanzas.

Dave Mosher, Steve Fabiani and Joe Grillo lashed the only Andover hits, and Mosher also starred defensively at third base.

Keith Verrette initiated the team's fifth doubleplay of the year, erasing two men just before Smith stroked his RBI single.

Pennant Races In Turmoil

By Rick Harrison

Playoffs appeared imminent in both divisions of the Andover Little League, as last-minute upsets down the home stretch threw both pennant races into turmoil.

In the National League, the Pirates put a crimp in the Giants' title hopes by stunning the leaders 3-1 in the final regular-season game for both teams last Monday night.

The two-time defending Town Champion Cardinals has remained in contention over the weekend by scoring back-to-back victories over the Mets and Braves.

This left the Giants with a 12-3 record, while the Cards were 11-3 with one game remaining against the Cubs last night. If the Cards won it, a post-season playoff will be necessary this weekend.

The American League race became muddled by a series of unusual happenings early this week.

As the TOWNSMAN went to press, the White Sox and Red Sox were both 9-5 with one game remaining. The Twins and Tigers were 8-5 with two games left.

The White Sox were scheduled to conclude their campaign Tuesday night against the Tigers. The Red Sox and Twins have a makeup game, and the Tigers and Twins must finish a protested game later this week.

The Tigers won a protest lodged during an 8-7 loss to the Twins on June 12, nullifying the result and forcing a replay of the contest.

The Red Sox-Twins makeup was forced when their game last Monday night was halted in the fourth inning because of darkness. The Sox had a commanding 13-5 lead when the game was stopped.

Everything should be resolved, including playoffs if necessary, by this weekend. This will leave a clear path for the two champs to battle for Town supremacy next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Checking the top pitching efforts of the past week shows that Len Driscoll of the Pirates tossed a clutch one-hitter against the Giants, while Ray Rau of the Tigers fired a two-hit shutout at the Indians.

Tom Coffey and Andy Bixby of the Mets also combined for a three-hit shutout against the Cubs.

In the power department, American Leaguers Bob Zwicker (Red Sox), Dean Russell (Twins), and Manny Silva (Twins) all belted their first homeruns.

Tigers 8, Indians 0 -- Ray Rau fashioned the fourth shutout of the season in the AL, surrendering two hits while striking out eight.

Dave Alexander powered the Tigers' offense with a double and single, while Ricky Collins drilled a two-bagger and the winners pulled off two double-plays amid a series of fine defensive maneuvers.

Tommy Keefe rapped a double and Scott Keller singled for the only Indians' safeties.

Yankees 9, White Sox 8 -- The Yanks continued their self-appointed role of "spoiler," stunning the White Sox hopes with this victory.

Charlie Souter laced a pair of hits for the Yanks, while George Donovan slammed a triple and Dave LaFleur added a key safety.

Losing chucker Mike Henderson continued to hit well with three bingles, and Steve DeSalvo ripped a double for the Sox.

Red Sox 15, Indians 6 -- The victors used two big innings to salt away the triumph, scoring six runs in the first and seven more in the fifth frame.

Kirk Sweeney went the full route on the mound, allowing five hits and whiffing 10. He also starred at the plate with 2-for-3, including a double and single.

Randy Hayman was 3-for-3 with two RBIs, while Dave Farrell went 2-for-3 and drove in three runs. Bob Zwicker hammered his solo homer, and Bob Beaudine joined Billy Hall with run-scoring singles.

Chris Elliott lashed three singles and had one RBI for the Injuns, while Kirk Sweeney went 2-for-4 in a losing cause.

Both Zwicker and Hayman starred defensively in separate stints at first base for the Sox.

Twins 14, Yankees 5 -- The Twins sprayed 13 hits around Recreation Park, and broke open a 6-5 game with five runs in the fourth inning.

Manny Silva was 3-for-4 with a homerun, while Dean Russell went 2-for-4 with a circuitclout. Jerry Stabile laced three hits in four trips, including a vicious three-run triple.

Willy Wright collected 2-for-4 and Willy Nikonchuk went 2-for-3 to complete the Twins' barrage.

Geoff Bragdon secured the pitching victory over Charlie Souter, one of several Yanks' hurlers. Phil Weeks doubled for the losers, and Brian Feeney made a pair of great diving stops at second base.

Red Sox 10, Tigers 7 -- Randy Hayman twirled a seven-hitter and whiffed 10 to pick up the mound triumph.

Hayman again was a two-way standout, going 2-for-2 with two RBIs at the plate. Bob Zwicker chipped in with a three-run double, and Billy Hall unloaded a solid two-bagger.

Tim Dubois stroked a two-run single for the Sox, with timely bingles being delivered by Frank Comparato and John Cox.

Ricky Collins drilled three singles for the Tigers, while younger brother Eddie belted a two-run double.

Pirates 3, Giants 1 -- Lennie Driscoll worked on a no-hitter for five innings, but lost that and the shutout in the final sixth.

The 11-year-old righthander settled for a one-hitter, fanning eight and walking five to spoil The Giants' chances of clinching.

The Pirates banged out seven hits, striking for one run in the third stanza and two more in the fifth.

Tom Fogarty hammered an RBI double for the Pirates, who finished with a rush again by winning their final three starts. Dave Morton laced an RBI single and Brian McGann spiked three singles.

Kevin Lynch broke up the no-hitter and shutout with an RBI single in the sixth inning.

Dennis O'Meara stood out defensively in leftfield for the Pirates, stabbing a hot liner when the Giants had two men on in the third.

Giants 12, Braves 2 -- Frank Pelletier garnered his fourth pitching win, although he lasted just four frames and needed relief help from Jimmy Lee and Russ Serbagi.

Pelletier surrendered two hits and fanned seven during his stint.

Lee Apgar once again swung the heavy lumber, clouting two doubles and a single for the Giants. Danny Morreo added a two-bagger and single, while Ed Reming and Serbagi lashed key hits.

Bill Robinson excelled defensively for the winners. Billy Lucy banged out both hits for the Braves.

Cards 7, Mets 6 -- The Cardinals stayed alive with a furious rally, erasing a 6-1 deficit with four runs in the fifth and two in the sixth.

Mets' hurlers Tom Coffey and Andy Bixby pooled talents to limit the Cards to only two hits, but walks and errors did the most damage.

Keith McIntyre drilled a long double for the victors, while Gary Needham chipped in with a big safety. Pete Morton was the winning chucker.

Chris O'Hara powered the Mets with a double and single, and Bixby looped two singles for the losers.

Mets 17, Cubs 0 -- Tom Coffey and Andy Bixby teamed for the NL's fourth shutout, and the second of the season for the Mets. The Cubs managed three hits.

Coffey also had a perfect 3-for-3 day at the platter, rapping out a double and two singles. Bixby slugged a double and single, and Ken Southworth was 2-for-2.

The Cubs' attack was paced by Paul Farnham with a brace of hits and Jimmy Guillet with a double.

Cards 5, Braves 1 -- Tony Sanchez kept the Cards' hopes glimmering with a clutch two-hitter, striking out six along the way.

Keith McIntyre punched three singles for the winners, while Jimmy Arnold and Gary Needham lined a pair of singles apiece.

Scott Wilton unloaded a double for the Braves. Danny Grams was a defensive wizard with several fielding gems at second base for the Cards.

Pirates 6, Cubs 5 -- The Pirates erupted for six runs in the first canto, and then hung on as the Cubs kept chipping away at the lead.

Tom Fogarty and Steve Serley pitched three innings each for the Pirates, with Fogarty getting credit for his third victory.

Kevin Muldoon delivered a key hit for the Pirates in the first, while Joe Develis and Jim Guillet lashed two safeties each for the Cubs.

Paul Farnham turned in a good relief effort for the losers, and both teams came up with a double-play during the action.

HESSIA

Hessia, or Rheinhessen lies in a rectangle bordered on two sides by the Rhine. From the city of Worms north along the Rhine to Mainz and west to Bingen are three of the four corners. The fourth corner of the rectangle lies in the valley twenty miles west of Worms and the river. Vineyards not in the "Rheinfront" (along the Rhine between Mainz and Oppenheim) are considered of little consequence because they do not have the river or the mineral rich red sandstone soil, the combined, produce the great wines of the Rheinhessen. The great vineyard towns are; Nackenheim, Nierstein, Oppenheim and Bingen.

It is said that Liebfraumilch was originally a wine made from grapes grown next to the Liebfrauenkirche (Church of our Lady) in the city of Worms. The name Liebfraumilch or "Milk of the Blessed Mother" has no meaning in the German wine laws so that any white wine may be called Liebfraumilch. The great Hessian wines will always be bottled with their town and vineyard name on the label while it's safe to assume that all the rest will eventually be sold as something called Liebfraumilch.

While Liebfraumilch is not considered great wine it is often quite good so that in selecting a bottle of Liebfraumilch the most important factor is the reputation of the shipper.

Final Week Surprises In Minors

The final week before the playoffs saw a few surprises in the American Minor League. The strong Red Sox team rebounded from a losing streak with two big wins, the first a 6-5 victory over the Senators and the second a 24-6 win over the Orioles, enabling the Sox to clinch third place.

The win over the Senators was a tightly played game by both teams. A home run blast by Jim Rathbun gave the Senators a two-run lead in the fifth, but Dave Shrestinian knocked in two Red Sox runs to tie it in the last half of the inning.

Standout fielding by Chris Parker at shortstop and Terry Schwarz at second base continually cut down lead runners cutting down potential runs. A great catch by Shrestinian in center field helped keep down the high scoring Senators. Pitching by both Dave Livingston of the Sox and Jody Yameen of the Senators was sharp.

The Red Sox then tackled the Orioles in a battle for third place. Terry Schwarz clobbered three-run homer in the first inning and Bill Loehr a three run homer in the third.

Scott Mattheson struck out four in a row for the Sox at one point but had difficulty with Bob Reilly who homered, singled and tripled to drive in four Oriole runs.

The Orioles had their hitting bats against the Yankees and rolled to a 22-8 win. Steve Neyman had four for four including a homer, Bob Reilly a homer, John Wall, double and homer, Doug Mesler two for two, Tony Giannone, three for three and Mark Walsh and Mark Scanlon perfect days at the plate.

Larry Powell had two hits including a homer to spark the Yankees.

The Patriots finished sharply in their 8-4 loss to the champion Tigers an 15-13 extra-inning win over the Angels in a battle for fifth place.

Hayden Traub had a line double for the Patriots and Reed Thompson drove in two runs with a double for the Patriots, but the Tigers with Bronson striking out 11 and hitting a home run and Joel Smith banging two triples were too much to overcome.

The Pats win over the Angels was a thriller. The Angels overtook a 4-2 lead and built a 12-8 lead sparked by home runs by Richard Marciano and Gary Cairns as Hayden Traub kept the Pats in the ball game.

In the sixth, Traub had a bases clearing belt and Jim Stamas had a timely hit to drive in two more to make the score 13-12. Kevin McDade's clean single tied the game for the Angels. In the extra frame, the Pats scored and called on Brian Hardy to hold the Angels in the bottom of the inning.

The victory, coupled with the White Sox 19-17 upset of the Angels on the final day put the Pats in fifth place tie with the Angels and will play in the fifth spot in the playoffs based on their second half record.

The final standings: Tigers

13-1, Senators 11-3, Red Sox 8-5-1, Orioles 8-6, Patriots 5-9, White Sox 3-10-1, Yankees 2-12, Angels 5-9.

Leave The Birds Alone

Few persons cause more havoc to wildlife than the Great American Bird Rescuer.

The fact that he is a well-intentioned person motivated by compassion does not alter the results. Because the average bird which he or she "rescues" did not need rescuing. Worse yet, having been rescued the bird has almost no chance of ever becoming a normal, healthy bird. In fact, with the best of care about nine out of ten of the rescued birds die within a day or two. It's the luckier ones that die.

At this season there are tens of thousands of young birds embarking on life free from the nest. It is in the period of a day or two after leaving the nest that young birds face the greatest hazard from human rescuers.

For the first couple weeks after leaving the nest, young birds depend upon their parents for food. At this stage their wings are poorly feathered and they lack sufficient tail feathers to stabilize flight. Most of them spend the period in bushes, waiting for the parents to return with food. Invariably, some young birds leave the bushes temporarily and find themselves on a lawn. It is at that stage someone rescues them.

The wisest course in helping such a young bird would be to pick it up and put it into the nearest hedgerow or shrub border. Place it in a safe spot near where it was found. The parents will expect it in that general area. The young bird probably will hop out of the shrub a time or two. Young birds are not impressed by human wisdom.

If the bird persists in returning to the lawn, all one can do is try to see that a cat or dog does not get it.

Should one make the mistake of taking the bird into the house, the parents assume that it has disappeared. This reduces an otherwise cared-for bird into an orphan. From then on it is up to the human to feed the young bird once an hour through the day. They can be fed canned dog food, thin strips of liver or kidney. You must feed a young bird as its parents would. Take eyebrow tweezers, pick up the food and place it far back in the throat. The young bird cannot swallow food unless it reaches the throat muscles which do the swallowing.

With a lot of luck, a human can keep a bird alive for months. Unfortunately, a human cannot develop a bundle of bones, flesh and feathers into a bird. Only birds seem successful in doing that. If a bird ever develops into a creature capable of coping on its own in the wild, its success seems closely associated with the way in which the parents reared it.

So, the end result of a "rescued" bird is tragedy. It never fits into the niche in life reserved for wild birds. And, thus it never becomes an independent creature capable of continuing its own kind.

For a free folder on the care of young birds, send a self-addressed, large, stamped envelope to "Wild Birds," Massachusetts Audubon Society, Lincoln, Mass. 01773.

Fatally Injured In Crash

An Andover man was fatally injured in a motorcycle-automobile accident Monday in Wilmington.

John R. Aunchman, 32, 48 Blood Road, was pronounced dead on arrival at Choate Memorial Hospital, Woburn, after the motorcycle on which he was a passenger, collided with a car being driven by Anthony B. Sbracia, of Colonial Drive, Tewksbury.

The accident took place about 12:30 Monday morning on Salem street Wilmington.

Aunchman was thrown from the vehicle and his leg amputated in the accident, police report.

Driver of the motorcycle, Donald E. Florence, 28, of Tewksbury, was critically injured in the accident. He was listed in critical condition at Choate hospital. His leg was amputated below the knee due to injuries sustained in the crash.

Request Bids On Driver Ed.

The school department will seek bids on private firms supplying the driver education course for the town.

This was the decision of the school committee Tuesday night, after reviewing specifications submitted by the administration.

No decision as to the future of the course will be made until bids are received.

Owen Hinkley, who has been in charge of the driver education course at the high school, has retired, and the school department is making a determination as to whether the town should continue the program in its present manner, or put the program in the hands of a private agency.

The specifications meet all the state standards for a driver training course.

Essential difference lies in the school department having to have the course given by a certified teacher, with specific accreditation, while a private contractor needs only to meet specification of the registry of motor vehicles.

The committee will now make a determination of the cost factor between wholly subsidized driver education program by the town, with professional teaching personnel, or allow the program to be conducted by private driving schools.

Asst. Supt. of Schools Vaughn Clapp noted that student scheduling could be arranged, under the specifications, with the school and the private contractor.

Next Session

The next school committee meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, June 25.

A policy on motorized vehicles on school property is expected to be enacted at that time. It was presented this week, but committee members decided to make revisions before adopting the regulations as policy.

Bleachers

While some sections of the bleachers were considered possibly safe for use for junior high activities, it was deemed best that the entire bleacher complex be removed for adequate safety precautions. The decision involves not only the bleachers on the football and track portion of the playstead, but the baseball field as well.

If the stands cannot be removed in time for the Fourth of July observance, the area will be roped off.

Pins were invented in England 600 years ago.

At the end of April, job vacancies in manufacturing totaled 125,000 (not seasonally adjusted), an increase of 14,000 over the March 1972 level. This represents the highest job vacancy level since August 1970.

GYPSY MOTHS

Could the composition of New England forests be responsible for gypsy moth outbreaks?

Two scientists who recently completed a study of the northeast woodlands suspect that in part the abnormally high numbers of oak trees in southern New England encourage gypsy moth epidemics.

The study emerges almost simultaneously with the expected emergence this late May of gypsy moth caterpillars in Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island. The caterpillar state of the gypsy moth creates havoc among tree leaves. The adult moths are harmless, except for their potential in creating another generation.

Roland C. Clement, staff biologist for the National Audubon Society, and Dr. Ian C. T. Nisbet, associate director of research for the Massachusetts Audubon Society, made the study. It was financed by the Rachel Carson Fund.

OPENING DAY at American Legion Beach, Stevens Pond, North Andover found Gloria Hepburn, 50 Columbia Road and Deborah Strobel, 34 Columbia Road, enjoying the swimming activity. The pond, opened for the season Tuesday morning and has a full schedule of swimming classes and programs under the direction of Walter Roberts and his assistants.

P.A. Crew In Victory

Tony Leggett recently skippered the Phillips Academy crew to victory in the Interscholastic Yacht Racing Association's thirty-sixth regatta held off Westport, Conn. Wednesday, June 14, sixteen schools from as far away as Wisconsin and Texas competed in the first of the two-day regatta which was sailed in Atlantic Class sloops of the host Cedar Point Yacht Club.

Leggett, a Manchester Yacht Club sailor, and his crew, Peter Fernberger, Marblehead, and Lawson Fisher, Greenwich, Conn., stood off strong challenges from Long Island Sound sailors in the four-race final series to give Andover an unprecedented fifth win in this Mallory Trophy competition which began in 1930.

Andover had two firsts, a second, and a third for 6 1/2 points in the low point scoring system. Hotchkiss School, Lakeville, Conn., captured second place with 13 3/4 points under the helmanship of Jim Marshall who sails out of Indian Harbor Yacht Club, Greenwich, Conn. Dave Perry, Pequot Yacht Club, Southport, Conn., guided Deerfield Academy to third place with 14 3/4 points, while Hank Brauer of Cedar Point Yacht Club brought Taft School, Watertown, Conn. in fourth with 16 points. Varying east and south winds blew 0-15 knots over the triangular course.

In the elimination preliminaries on the first day of the regatta, two divisions of eight schools each sailed three races in variable easterly and southerly breezes. The A division winner was Deerfield, followed by Selwyn School, Denton Texas, Hotchkiss, and University School of Milwaukee, Wis. Andover was the B division leader, trailed by Suffield Academy, Suffield, Conn., Taft, and St. George's School, Newport, R.I. These top eight schools qualified for the finals.

By bringing the Mallory Trophy back to Andover for the fifth time, Leggett, a senior bound for Harvard, maintained Phillips Academy's strong position in interscholastic sailing since World War II. Andover's previous triumphs were in 1953 (M.A. Purcell, skipper), 1956 (Fred Sorenson, skipper), 1960 (Nicholas V. Kip, skipper), 1965 (Walter B. Pierson, skipper). No other school has won more than three regattas in the forty-two year history of the I.Y.R.A.

Final standings: Andover 6 1/2, Hotchkiss 13 3/4, Deerfield 14 3/4, Taft 16, St. George's 21, University 21, Selwyn 24, Suffield 26.

ANDOVER CHAMBER OF COMMERCE RETAIL TASK FORCE

Blooming Idiots

It came a little late this year, probably due to confinement by the weather, but the season for the onslaught of blooming idiots opened this past week in Andover.

The particular species unfortunately is not rare or endangered.

It is not young, as a child, for children appear to have more sense at their tender age, then do these youthful wreckers of personal and public property.

It is not in a class with insects which can be smacked to relieve the problem. Rather the blooming idiot has unfortunately probably never been smacked which, no doubt makes him the way he is.

The blooming idiot has no respect for anything and cavorts about the community causing trouble and damage as its main source of joy.

The record of the past week shows that the new crop of blooming idiots, loosely identified by Webster, as "ignorant, foolish or stupid person," has accomplished much in a short space of time.

They pulled several false alarms over the weekend, and, while, firefighters were responding to an alarm, they are believed to have stolen the American flag from in front of the Ballardvale station.

We won't go into the dangers of sounding false alarms, since they are too apparent, such as possible accidents, keeping public safety equipment from an existing emergency, etc.

Another of their "bright" spots is the apparent theft of a new boat to be used at Pomp's pond from the Recreation Park one night.

Warming up for later capades, some young enterprising people managed to turn the cannon in Memorial Park around one night, then decorate it with spray paint, compelling town forces to repaint the entire memorial.

There are other incidents, such as failing to move on the sidewalk, hopping the chain fence in front of town hall and stomping over the grass plot there, easing the pain somewhat with bare feet, tossing pennies against town hall, among them.

One of the most senseless acts of stupidity of the past week was the tearing apart of a valuable tree in Memorial Park, planted just a few short weeks ago by the Andover Garden club. The tree was a gift from the Arnold Arboretum and has now succumbed to the ignorance of unappreciative youth.

These are but a few of the things going on in our fair community, attempting so diligently to provide opportunities for our youth.

That is the apparent appreciation shown a liberal society.

Safety

While the weather belies the calendar, the start of the summer season is upon us.

It is a joyous time of year and can continue to be so, provided all of us are mindful of safety during the coming weeks.

Vacation time is here and the school children are rampant with their new-found freedom, often oblivious to their surroundings, particularly in play areas. Motorists must be cognizant of this as the summer weeks draw on.

Bicyclists are more numerous than ever. Young and old alike are enjoying this pleasant and rewarding exercise, but it should be pursued with safety uppermost in mind. Obedience to rules of the road should be practiced by all.

Swimming is refreshing, relaxing, and beneficial, health-wise, if practiced properly. Know your limitations and have respect for tides, unknown swimming holes, etc.

Boating can be enjoyable but proper safety precautions should always be followed, being ever mindful of other boaters, currents, waves, swimmers, skin divers, etc.

While speaking of water safety, we might pause to mention Fish Brook which is an excellent source of Andover's water supply but an illegal area for swimming. In its placid waters lurk weeds, roots and hidden dangers which can produce fatal results if tested.

With safety a paramount consideration in the weeks ahead, we feel sure that the summer of '72 will be a rewarding one for all.

Bazaar Days

Got anything planned for the weekend?

The thing which should be marked prominently on the calendar is the annual sidewalk bazaar to be held in downtown Andover Friday and Saturday.

The two day affair is more than just a bargain busting extravaganza.

It is a community effort, held annually at this time of year, to provide a good send off for the summer season for townspeople and residents as well.

Community organizations will be participating and offering a number of items to assist them in their civic and charitable endeavors in the months ahead.

Merchants will be offering items at bargain prices.

There will be refreshments, games, rides, entertainment, a little bit of everything to meet everyone's desire for a good time.

Conviviality generally reigns supreme over the two day event, which has had a continuing record of success over the past decade.

We are assured that the planning for this year's annual event has measured up and surpassed the events of the past and will prove rewarding and beneficial to all who attend.

Off The Top

Of The Desk

We had a 'phone call last Friday concerning a raccoon having a gay time on the grounds of Christ Church.

The animal, however, must be publicity shy, since efforts to spot him since have failed.

The raccoon was spotted along the wall for a distance, then disappeared. All efforts to locate him since have been for not.

A soft drink concern lost its popularity recently, either through oversight, or whatever.

A class from a nearby elementary school had gone on a scheduled field trip to visit the place and see first hand its operations.

The youngsters gained little in the way of the operation which was bad enough, but they failed to get a taste of the popular product as well.

To which they got immediate response.

As the bus departed the parking lot, the youngsters sang the praises of the opposition.

The Merrimack Valley Works of Western Electric, in its newsletter relates one of those improbably stories which takes some convincing.

A woman motorist in a small foreign car was driving through a "wild animal park in California when an elephant sat on the car. As if that wasn't bad enough, she was stopped by the police, after getting the car back in operable condition. The explanation of the damage took some explaining and verification at police headquarters and her next problem is satisfying the insurance company.

That "period of adjustment" for motorists is due again.

Schools are closed for the summer, giving thousands of youngsters many extra hours to play outdoors.

They'll be turning up - on bikes, skates or their own nimble feet - at times and in places motorists haven't been used to encountering them over the past months.

And their new freedom may prompt them to be even a bit more reckless than children are apt to be.

That's why the Automobile Club of Merrimack Valley is again urging area motorists to be extra alert when they drive, especially during the lunch hours and at dusk.

The places where children are most likely to appear unexpectedly fall into three categories - recreational areas (playgrounds, swimming pools, tennis courts, etc.), urban residential areas, and suburban residential areas.

Youngsters, though, are volatile and unpredictable creatures, so the best policy for motorists is to exercise that extra measure of caution whenever and wherever they drive.

Consumption of gasoline in Massachusetts increased 3.4 percent in 1971 compared to the previous year, according to Donald R. Schroeder, Chairman of the Massachusetts Petroleum Council.

Schroeder noted that gasoline consumption was up 4.7 percent nationwide last year.

Total gasoline consumption for both highway and nonhighway uses in Massachusetts in 1971 amounted to 2,167,646,000 gallons, the Phillips Petroleum Company executive reported.

By comparison, he pointed out that the state's gasoline consumption in 1970 amounted to 2,095,440,000 gallons.

An aphid is a minute, delicate insect that removes juices from trees and practically all kinds of plants. Certain species are responsible for the spread of various plant viruses. Aphid populations can increase rapidly. Many have 13 or more generations a year.

But nature takes care of this. And one of the controls, is the lacewing fly, one of the loveliest in the insect kingdom.

At summer twilight a lacewing fly flits across the garden, its lacelike silvery wings are iridescent, its eyes like golden jewels. It settles on a leaf, ejects a drop of fluid and draws this up into a thread almost too fine for the eye to see. As the thread hardens the fly lays an egg on the top, then goes about its business.

Seven days later out of that egg creeps a little stranger. It crawls down the thread onto the leaf. It's called an aphid-lion, and is a grayish brown creature with curved jaws that extend beyond the head.

It encounters its first aphid. It grips it, wrestles it, then removes the body fluids. The aphid-lion has an insatiable appetite and looks around for more aphids. By the time it is 10 days old it may feed on as many as 30 aphids an hour, and at 12 days it can destroy an aphid a minute.

The full grown larva pulls itself into a ball at the end of a leaf, wraps itself in silk.

ANDOVER OFFICE IN SHAWSHEEN PLAZA

Beacon Hill Observations

By Bill Kirtz

One to three children in every average-sized classroom will get the special attention they need but aren't getting -- with the financial load shifted off communities' shoulders -- under bi-partisan "special education" legislation which has passed the State House of Representatives and is now up for Senate consideration.

Barbara Wand, of the Massachusetts Association for Retarded Children, says the bill would take children with learning difficulties out of the "wastebasket" and put them back into the educational mainstream.

Nancy Brown, a director of the Massachusetts Association for Children with Learning Disabilities, estimates that as many as 20 percent of the state's pupils may be handicapped by inability to recognize, say, a yellow chalk on a green blackboard, or to sit still because of a neurological problem.

The bill, says Mrs. Brown, "will increase towns' interest in the handicapped rather than letting them brush them off -- and will provide 100 percent state reimbursement."

Now, cities and towns are expected to provide educational services "based on a child's individual needs" but have to pay the costs out of their own pockets.

So, says Mrs. Wand, children with speech, hearing and sight problems may all be lumped together into one special class which -- instead of training them to get back into their home rooms -- simply shunts them out of the way.

The proposed legislation has been carved out of a number of proposals, including those of Governor Francis Sargent and House Speaker David Bartley. It aims to equalize the spending burdens while increasing services to pupils with problems.

Current laws favor wealthier school districts. Most communities eventually get back 50 percent of whatever they spend on special education: the more they can afford, the more the state helps out.

Under the proposed legislation, all cities and towns will get 100 percent of what they spend educating handicapped children above their average per pupil expenditures.

Mrs. Wand hopes this will end what she calls "haphazard" treatment under which children either don't get individualized help or are needlessly sent away to state-funded institutions.

The bill would require that children be screened by a group of specialists -- psychiatrists, psychologists and physicians -- to determine just what their problem is. Then, an individual program will be tailored to meet a student's exact needs.

Backers of the legislation are optimistic about its chances of Senate passage. Law-makers inclined against it don't oppose its provisions but are leery about adding further to the state's financial burdens.

But educators and social workers insist that the measure might open up new vistas in helping youngsters get the most out of school. The secondgrader who simply can't sit still might be calmed by shots; the fourth grader who simple can't add just might have a sight problem which makes him see numbers backward.

"We estimate that one-fifth of children have significant learning handicaps," says Mrs. Brown. "This bill would help three to 13 percent of them. It would make schools interest themselves in the handicapped instead of blocking them out."

Eleven thousand flamingos, from all over the eastern Mediterranean, have taken over 23 square miles of salt marshes at the northern end of the Suez Canal, which is a no-man's land since the Arabs and Israelis have stopped fighting. Before 1967, one thousand flamingos flocked there, the Massachusetts Audubon Society reports.

Real Estate Today

CLUES IN THE BASEMENT

When inspecting an older home for sale, you don't have to be an expert to discover symptoms of construction problems if you know what to look for. The basement is a good place to uncover such clues.

Water seepage can be costly. Look for signs of moisture. Search for dampness in corners and water stains along walls or cabinets.

Water pipes in houses built before WW II are likely to be made of iron or steel which tend to corrode over long years of use. Copper piping is usually found in newer houses. If you see a length of copper between segments of iron or steel, there have been plumbing problems.

Before you go upstairs, check the water heater's age, condition and capacity. Nowadays, a water heater of less than 40 gallons capacity is usually too small for a family of four or more. Check for rust or small leaks at the bottom of the tank.

CAR TALK

AIR-CONDITIONER BAD BREATH

Not unlike the human race, auto air-conditioners can also develop "bad breath." This is caused by the condensation of moisture on the evaporator coils which filter smoke, dust, dirt and odors from inside the car. The result can be a blast of rather foul-smelling air when the unit is first turned on. To alleviate this socially delicate condition, spray an aerosol disinfectant / deodorizer into the intake air stream while the engine and air-conditioner are running.

On factory-installed units, set the unit to external (fresh) air and direct the spray into the air inlet (the slotted area below the windshield in most cars.)

For add-on units, direct the spray into the fan cages which are usually found at either end of the unit which is attached to the lower end of the dashboard.

The largest recorded codfish, taken from New England waters in May 1895, weighed 211 1/2 pounds and was more than six feet long. Since 1900, cod landings here have declined to about one-fifth of their former level probably because of a warming trend in the waters, the Massachusetts Audubon Society tells us.

Williams Committee To Canvass

Andover's Committee to elect Richard Williams to Congress today announced its intention to methodically cover the town for nomination signatures next weekend. "The process has already begun," Williams said, "and we have several hundred from Andover already, and this coming weekend will mark the beginning of our organized drive."

"We have many dedicated workers in Andover," according to Dolores DeBolt, a Williams volunteer, "and their combined effort will put Rick over the top."

Williams, the 1970 Democratic nominee who polled 70,000 votes against Morse, is the only candidate in the race with a scientific background. He has been a consultant to the White House and the Environmental Protection Agency on environmental management. A recent issue of Newsweek included a study by Williams on the impact of pollution control costs on industry.

League To Be Seeking Signatures

The League of Women Voters is sponsoring a petition drive in Precincts 2, 4 (Arvanitis) and 3 (Grimley and Guilmette) for inclusion on the ballot in the November election. The question will be merely advisory to these representatives in the House of Representatives.

The question will read: "Shall the representative from this district be advised to vote to reduce the size of the House from 240 to 160?"

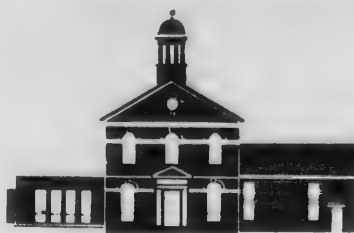

Each petition will need 200 signatures from residents of precincts 2, 4 and 3.

Representatives of the League will be on hand Friday, June 23, at Bazaar Days for the signature-gathering. They will be located at the following places at these times:

9-10 a.m., outside Dana's Sport Shop; 2-3 p.m., outside Town Hall; 7-8 p.m., outside Macartney's and Olde Andover Village Parking lot.

Shawsheen Pupils In Musical

The children in a special interest group at the Shawsheen School in Andover presented a delightful musical titled "About People." Performances were on June 9 and 11. The entire student body and parents of the performers were invited to attend. The program included dialogue and musical selections based upon the thoughts, feelings and emotions that people have about the world in which they live.

Program selections were as follows: "Carefully Taught," "Consider Yourself," "Sound of Music," "Edelweiss," "The Happy Wanderer," "Whistle a Happy Tune," "What the World Needs Now," "Getting to Know You," "All Kinds of People," and "Up With People."

The children in the cast were: Rebecca Erban (soloist), David Runge, Colleen Cormier, Dean Miller (soloist), Mary Wermers, Christopher Kelley (soloist), Anna Jill Hopwood (soloist), Julia Murphy, John Levesque, Ann Swift, Stephen Stabile, Leslie Hudgins (duet), Amy Stevenson, Peter Moore, Timothy LaCourse, Joanne Fossella (soloist), Debbie Gridley (duet), Lisa Belpedio (soloist), Susan Demers (soloist), Lisa Griffin and Julie Johnson.

The Shawsheen School, which has completed its first year of a new program called ICE, is comprised of three units, all multi-aged. As part of their instructional program within the school day, the children of primary Unit B, its members being 7, 8 and 9 year olds, may choose one of several interest activities. Children participate in the activity of their choice for a period of approximately 10 weeks.

Crops About Two Weeks Off Schedule

The local growing season has improved, says the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture, and more of our native crops are coming into the market this week. But it hasn't improved all that much. Temperatures and sunshine have remained below normal, and state agricultural experts now report crops about two weeks behind usual expectations.

Despite this negative news, some local produce is doing well, and wholesale prices are indeed falling. Boston and Romaine lettuce from nearby farms is in good supply, and priced lower than last week. Some of our local growers are bringing Iceberg lettuce of excellent quality into the wholesale market, and it should be reasonably priced this week-end.

Locally-grown greenhouse-grown tomatoes, however, are fast disappearing from the scene, a victim of out-of-state competition and high cost of heating oil. These succulent first-of-the-season beauties are still to be found on selected produce counters, but the recent changes in fuel requirements, coupled with oil prices that have gone out of sight, have caused many growers to sell their greenhouses or to go to higher-volume crops.

One of the state's largest greenhouse tomato ranges, for instance, located in Lexington, is now producing roses, and there has been no other source to replace the tomato crop.

Local rhubarb is still in good supply, of excellent quality, with prices down. In reasonable supply are Massachusetts radishes, scallions, spinach and asparagus with prices holding firm.

Strawberries from nearby growers are plump and delicious, but the weather has limited supplies to roadside markets so far. Normally plentiful by this time, they probably will not appear in supermarkets until nearly the end of the month.

Graduates With Highest Honors

Mark P. Kostic, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Kostic, 180 Andover St., received a Bachelor of Science degree in Engineering Technology at commencement exercises of Wentworth College, Boston, recently.

Kostic, who graduated with highest honors, was a Dean's list student at the school and was on the President's Honor Roll.

Volkswagen the tentmaker.

Although Omar the tentmaker could make a perfectly nice tent, he was no help if you wanted to take it somewhere. For that you had to see your local camel dealer.

There are other tentmakers now, thank Allah.

Every tent* Volkswagen makes comes with an attachment that will take you and the tent anywhere: a Volkswagen.

Giving you about 23 miles for a gallon of gas, the VW Campmobile is a lot cheaper to feed than a camel. And a great deal more comfortable.

It has a full-length double bed, a child's bed, a child's hammock and a cot. As well as closets, curtains, and a reading lamp.

It even boasts a kitchenette. Complete with a cupboard, a dining table, an icebox and a sink.

Of course, cozy as living quarters are on the inside of the Volkswagen Campmobile, it's good to know you can always set up living quarters on the outside.

As Omar used to say . . . a man's home is his tent.

Glenn Cooper

Announces Candidacy

Glenn Cooper, a 32 year-old economist and resident of Lowell has become the ninth candidate in the fifth district's Democratic congressional primary election.

Stressing the steady and widespread economic decline of his district, Cooper underscored his broad experience in government and business as an essential qualification for the congressional seat. A former United States senate staff member who has worked with the aeronautics and space sciences committee and the juvenile delinquency subcommittee, he has for the last several years been a financial consultant specializing in export markets for textiles and high technology items. "Last winter," he said, "I met in Hong Kong with representatives of China to discuss trade and political issues. My written report of this discussion reached the place where it would do the most good for us: the President's desk in Washington."

Cooper emphasized the importance of having someone in congress who is not only able to devise specific solutions to the specific problems facing the fifth district but also willing to listen to his constituents. He concluded by saying, "As the families and voters of the district get to know me better, I ask that they compare the thoroughness and the soundness of my proposals for easing the problems of our region with the quality of the other candidates' ideas. This is the only kind of contest that has a chance of changing things."

Mr. Cooper is married and has three children, age 6, 3 and 2. He is a graduate of Southern Methodist University and The Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy (Tufts University). He serves as a director of Camp Paul, a public summer day camp for retarded children in Eastern Massachusetts, as well as a director of the Fellowship-in-Israel for Arab-Jewish Youth, Inc.

Reports Given At PTO Council

The Andover PTO Council heard reports from the Climate for Learning Committee at its recent meeting.

The group reported that some answers to questionnaires had been received and a report on the total results will be available in the fall.

A discussion was held on fund raising and expenditures of the different PTOs. It was felt that this type of sharing is beneficial to all PTOs.

The next meeting of the council will be held Sept. 18 at the high school library at which time election of officers will be held.

Attending the last session were representatives of Bancroft, Doherty, Shawsheen, South, West elementary and East Junior High.

Young To Be Presented In Recital

The Methuen Memorial Music Hall presents Lawrence A. Young as the fourth recitalist in the summer series on Wednesday, June 28th at 8:30 p.m.

Mr. Young received his Bachelor of Music degree from Boston University, where he studied organ with Jack Fisher, having previously studied at Oberlin Conservatory with Fenner Douglass. He is presently enrolled in the Master of Music program at the University of Minnesota, studying organ with Heinrich Fleischer, and is Director of Music at Christ Church, Lutheran, in Minneapolis. He has given recitals in Massachusetts and New York City.

His recital program consists of: Prelude and Fugue in G minor - Dietrich Buxtehude; Sonata, Op. 92 - Ernst Krenek; Chorale Prelude: "Von Gott will ich nicht lassen" (BWV 658) - Johann Sebastian Bach; Prelude and Fugue in A minor (BWV 543) - Johann Sebastian Bach; and Grande Piece Symphonique, Op. 17 (Andantino serioso; Allegro non troppo e maestoso; Andante; Allegro; Andante; Allegro non troppo e maestoso) - Cesar Franck.

The organ was originally built in Ludwigsburg, Germany by Walcker. Successive reconstructions have been by the Methuen Organ Company, founded by Edward F. Searles; and the Aeolian-Skinner Organ Company of Boston under the supervision of G. Donald Harrison.

Admission to the recital is two dollars at the door, fifty cents for children. Sustaining members of the Hall are admitted free to all recitals of the series. Memberships are offered at $15.00 for individuals, and $20.00 for husband and wife.

Charles E. Callahan will perform at the Music Hall on July 5th.

Franklin Pierce College is a four-year, co-educational, fully accredited institution located in the Monadnock Region of Southern New Hampshire. A Test For Heart
Muscle

If you're 45-years-old and can pedal a bicycle with enough energy to light a 150-watt bulb at a low heart rate, then chances are your heart muscle is in good shape.

The exercise test has become an important tool for the cardiologist in diagnosing heart disease. One simple way he can test heart function is to prescribe a specific exercise and then measure the heart's response to it.

Exercise produces demands by the muscles for a great deal of oxygen which must be supplied by the blood stream. This extra oxygen demand means extra blood flow. Extra blood flow, in turn, means extra pumping action of the heart which leads to a greater number of heart beats per minute. This chain of events is the mechanism by which the heart rate (measured in beats per minute) responds to the level of exercise.

Heart research has discovered that measuring the relationship between the heart rate and the amount of exercise is an important test of cardiac function. The usual method of performing this test is to have the subject pedal a special bicycle which is capable of measuring exercise (such a bicycle costs about $350). The heart rate is counted before and during exercise by the number of pulses per minute at the wrist.

The test is performed at several levels of difficulty. First the subject pedals with enough power to light a 50-watt bulb and the heart rate is counted. He then pedals harder, enough to light a 100-watt bulb, and again the heart rate is recorded. And so on at higher levels of exercise until his heart rate reaches some upper limit.

The limit of heart rate which should be reached varies from individual to individual, but one estimate in healthy subjects is calculated by subtracting the subject's age from 195. Thus a 45-year-old subject would be expected to keep pedaling until he reached a heart rate of 195-45 equals 150. The number of watts which he generates at this heart rate is the measure of his heart function.

Many exercise programs, such as those in the YMCAs, have this bicycle test available. Swimmers, joggers and cyclists may make the test even simpler. They perform a specific and reproducible exercise, such as swimming five laps, jogging one mile, or bicycling up a certain hill. The heart rate at the end of this exercise is measured. As the subjects become more physically conditioned, they find they can do the same exercise at a lower heart rate. Doing the same amount of exercise at a lower heart rate is a sign of improved heart function.

Cardiologists may use exercise as a test for the presence of heart disease. Simple exercises such as stair climbing may be used. An electrocardiogram taken before, during and after exercise can diagnose some types of heart disease as reliably as the most elaborate tests of cardiac catheterization. Such a test can also indicate that the heart is healthy when disease was mistakenly suspected.

Exercise has therefore become an important test to those interested in exercise as a recreation and to cardiologists interested in the diagnosis of heart disease. It is a simple test available to everyone also who merely is wondering "how his heart is doing."

TO BE DEMOLISHED. The Andover Grange Hall will soon be taken down, according to a member of the local Grange. Arbitrators Settle West School Case

The town must pay $8,143.96 of a requested $74,000 for completion of the West elementary school, according to a decision reached following arbitration sessions in Boston.

The general contractor had submitted a bill to the town, along with subcontractors of over $100,000 originally, with the figure coming down to $72,000 before being submitted to arbitrators.

Town Manager J. Maynard Austin reported this week that following the arbitration sessions during which Town Council Fredric S. O'Brien appeared for the town, the arbitrators had ruled that the town was responsible for costs of $8,143.96.

The arbitrators rejected some of the town's claims against the contractor, among them $6,600 which was the penalty clause for not completing the building on time, $100 per day for 66 days.

Major items rejected by the arbitrators in their claim against the town was $46,800 for subsoil conditions. The contractor claimed the cost was due to imperfections in the plans as presented.

Of the claims submitted against the town, officials felt that only $1,781.69 was due.

Following review of the claims of both the contractor and the town, the arbitrators reduced the original claim of the contractor to $7,977.18. There was an increase in one claim dealing with adjustment of roof pitch of $166.78, bringing the total cost up to the adjusted figure.

Town Manager Austin in his report on the settlement of the case reported:

In addition to the awards for extras, the Arbitrators required the Town to pay interest on the $8,143.96 worth of extras from July 30, 1971, the date of the filing of the claim with the American Arbitration Association. The can Arbitration Association. The Town also had to pay the contractor interest on $46,024.63 from November 13, 1970, sixty days after the building was accepted by the Town as substantially completed. This $46,024.63 figure is the amount that was due the contractor under the contract on November 13, 1970 less the amount the Town was justified in withholding by reason of the punch list and liens placed by the subcontractors against the money due the contractor.

The Arbitrators authorized the Town to hold an amount not to exceed $10,000 pending completion of a four item punch list.

The Arbitrators in their decision clarified the procedure for the Town to follow in paying the sub-contractors who had filed requests for direct payment and resolved a dispute between the Richardson Electric Co., Inc. and D. Guschoy Co., Inc. which indirectly involved the Town.

The contractor by the avenue of arbitration received $6,362.27 ($8,143.96 less $1,781.69) more in extras from the Town than its officials were willing to concede.

The Town in defending itself in arbitration was able to convince the Arbitrators that the extras claimed by the contractor in the amount of $64,314.76 were improper. This favorable resolution of the impasse over the settlement of the contract was not without cost. Interest on the monies withheld by the Town pending resolution of the dispute and on the extras allowed by the Arbitrators in the amount of $6,062.35 was paid the contractor as directed by the Arbitrators. The Town Treasurer, however, had the use of the money withheld during the dispute.

Other costs totaling $11,716.83 included such expenses as legal, expert witnesses, 50% of the cost of the transcripts of the five all day hearings and 50% of the compensation for the Arbitrators.

is scheduled for consideration by the town at the October town meeting. Since it is a special session, the FinCom holds an upper hand on the decision.

Should the FinCom not approve the expenditure of funds at the time, the town will be unable to act on the matter. This, however, is not anticipated.

Both sites will come before the town meeting, the selectmen making their recommendation and an alternate article allowing the townspeople to choose the other.

The town has been ordered by the state to close its present

Chandler Road dump operations and local officials are attempting to secure an extension until a decision can be made relative to a new site.

Also in October, the voters will have an opportunity to decide if they wish to have municipal refuse collection.

Mrs. Asoian To Retire

The school committee accepted with regret, the retirement of Mrs. Bertha Asoian as a secretary in the school administration office.

Mrs. Asoian was highly praised by committee members for her assistance over the years, both to administrators and to the board.

Dr. Richard A. Katz described Mrs. Asoian as "the right arm of the school committee," describing particularly her work in maintaining school committee records and her assistance during budget time.
